Warning For Irish Extremists Who Oppose Great Britain's Offer

London.—London newspapers even those that have most warmly supported Irish aspirations view with considerable regret the statements made by Eamon de Valera at the recent meeting of the Irish republican parliament. There was however reluctance to regard his speech as expressing Ireland's last word and some editorials declared confidently that the issue was placed before the Irish people by the British terms of settlement would be accepted. Assertions were made on the strength of Dublin advice that the Irish having lasted peace since the establishment of the truce would prefer consent to a return to hostilities and that London Irishmen believed there was any probability of a resumption of warfare.

The Daily Mail said the Catholic clergy of Ireland were using their utmost influence in favor of acceptance and it expressed belief that the "war proportion" of the members of the Dail Eireann were determined to accept the British terms.

The London Times took occasion to warn the extremists who oppose acceptance that Great Britain's mind is finally made up and nothing can shake its determination not to yield upon the cardinal point upon the maintenance of the union between Great Britain and Ireland.

Considerable prominence was given extracts from editorials appearing in United States newspapers most of them earnestly advising the Irish not to reject the Government's offer.

The Daily Telegraph commenting upon these editorials said:

"Americans are deeply impressed with the dramatic tone of the British Government in the pursuit of peace. They perceive if some Irishmen do not, what an immense moral victory the Government has made rather than see the ruin of Ireland consummated, and they that some yielding should be apparent on the other side."

Unemployment Insurance

Vancouver.—Unemployment insurance in the future was forecasted by J. W. de B. Faris, attorney-general, at a meeting here between the Government representatives of workers generally and returned soldiers. Unemployment insurance system, he said, was bound to develop in Canada because of the experience the country is now passing through.

Says British Coal Strike Leaders Lacked in Vision

London.—Herbert Smith, acting president of the Miner's Federation, said some frank things at the annual conference of the British Coal Association, concerning the blunders made in the recent coal strike.

Due to the economic position of the world during the war, he said, "the sense of the power and importance developed in the minds of the men had not been altogether healthy, and gave many men an exaggerated opinion of their power."

Due to the Government's sudden decision of the mining industry, Mr. Smith said this action had put it virtually impossible to proceed with the negotiations then under way for an equitable distribution of wages and profits. The Government, for this act, if no other, said Mr. Smith, should cease.

"The federation leaders, however," continued Mr. Smith, "lacked vision and enterprise in their subsequent action. It was a wrong policy for the districts not to have concentrated on the wage question upon which they had public support. It was a wrong decision to fight the price issue. The withdrawal of 'safety men' from the mines was another mistake and the consequences are now seen in the breakdown of many mines."

Alluding to aspersions upon the loyalty of federation officials, Mr. Smith said they were too loyal to the so-called majority rule, too loyal to their colleagues while overlooking their conditions and better judgment because they were out-voted by the usual narrow majority vote.

Plate Developed In Air

Photograph Ready For Printing When Plane Descended.

Washington.—A successful experiment in photography from the air, which is regarded by aviation officials as possessing possibilities of high military value, has just been conducted by the army air service. A photograph was taken from a plane flying over the Camp Meade, and returned a few minutes later with a plate already developed showing clearly the parade of students attending the officers' training course there. The plate was developed in the air and ready for printing when the plane returned to the field.

Passing of Peter of Serbia

Former King of Serbia and Idol of Country Dies.

Belgrade, Jugia Slavia.—Former King Peter of Serbia is dead. He was 76 years of age, white haired, deaf, ill from the infirmities of age and suffering from the wounds of three or more wars, relinquished the cares of state in 1919 when his second son, Crown Prince Alexander, succeeded him and became the ruler of the new state of Jugia Slavia. He then died.

"My beloved Serbia is now free and its future, I believe, will be a great one. My life is over. I desire only the continued affection and devotion of my dear people, and, finally, a grave on Serbian soil."

Small Fire Loss In West Kootenay

Less This Season Than For Any Recent Years.

Nelson, B.C.—The fire situation in the West Kootenay district is astonishingly good, considering that the greater part of this territory has been over six weeks without rain. The Salmon Valley which has been the chief fire area this season, is now clear, except for the fire on Sheep Creek along the summit, which is doing no damage. There has been practically no fire loss this season so far than for any season in recent years.

Seamen Sent To Prison

Men of Canadian Merchant Marine Refused to Obey Commands.

Vancouver.—Seven seamen arrested on charges of refusing to obey commands on the Canadian Merchant Marine steamship Canadian Observer, have been sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment. The men in their defence claimed that the ship was in such a filthy condition and the food so poor that they did not wish to continue on the vessel and demanded their discharge.

Montreal.—The company has been awarded for the new $9,000,000 hotel on the site of the old high school by the directors of the Mount Royal Hotel Company of New York, who guarantee the completion of the building ready for occupation by October 1, 1922. Under the terms of the contract, Canadian materials are to be given preference in so far as considerations of price and quality will permit.

Peking.—China has formally replied with a cordial acceptance to the invitation to attend the Washington disarmament and far eastern conference.

Good Crops At Saskatoon

Forty and Forty-Five Bushels to the Acre Will Be Common.

Saskatoon.—About forty per cent of the wheat in the Saskatoon district has been cut with little or no loss of yield. West of Saskatoon the crop is somewhat spotty but many of the farmers report an estimated yield of 35 or upward.

The Early Harvest.

Brandon.—Harvest operations in this district are nearly two weeks earlier than last year. The first wheat was brought in to a local mill August 24, 1920, while this year the first wheat was brought in the mill August 12. Most of the wheat cutting is finished and a good quantity of threshing has been done. Some coarse grains have also been cut.

Little Growth in the Rural Population of the West.

As the United States becomes increasingly dependent on imports for the demand on Canadian farmers will grow more serious. Fordney Tariffs may come and Fordney Tariffs may go but the American food supply will, for many decades, have to be drawn from us.

Yet we find little growth in rural population in our west. Taking Canada as a whole we have not many more farmers today than we had five years ago. The demand for food rises and our ability to supply it falls.

Already the cost of living tends to be higher in Canada than in the United States by a few cents per week per family. The explanation lies in the fact that our remaining food growers get a smaller dollar return for their Canadian dollars for their goods. It pays them to ship south whether our cities are fed or not, and no one can deny the right to do so.

But what is essential, both from the food growers and the food consumers standpoint is this: We MUST increase the number of Canadian farmers and the acreage of their farms. It seems more fool production to stabilize prices for the consumer, than the present producers of high cost of taxes, railway service, government, etc.

For both consumer and producer's sake Canada requires more farming population. To get that we must start to bring in more immigrants—now—today—at once.

Britain Serves Notice

Recognizes U.S. Jurisdiction Only In Three-Mile Belt.

Washington.—Formal notice that it cannot recognize jurisdiction of the United States over the high seas beyond the three-mile limit fixed by international law for many years has been served by the British Government in connection with the seizure of the British schooner Marshall reported to have been fired upon by Japan.

It is expected, however, that the British authorities will await the outcome of court proceedings and final establishment of the vessel's registry before any further diplomatic step is taken. It has been deemed necessary, however, to give notice in advance that Great Britain cannot acquiesce in extension of American jurisdiction over the high seas beyond the usual limit.

Lloyd George Pays Tribute To Japanese For Help In War

Send Loyal Message

Halifax, N.S.—The Acadia people assembled in solemn national congress with representatives from all parts of Canada, beg you to convey to His Majesty King George V, their sentiments of loyalty to him and their appreciation of your appointment as viceroy to his greatest commonwealth. This message was adopted at Church Point by an assembly of over 2,000 Acadians, and was sent to Baron Byng, governor-general of Canada.

British Living Costs Have Increased

Farm Produce Is Very High Owing To Drought.

London.—The Labor Gazette indicates that the cost of living in England, based on comparisons of the figures of the month with those of other months and other years is on the upgrade. There was an average level of 122 per cent, above pre-war prices during July. In June, the average was 119 above pre-war prices.

The increase is due chiefly to the cost of farm produce consequent upon the drought. Rents have increased in conformity with the Rents Act. The prices of meat and clothing have generally decreased.

Canada Will Represent Dominions

Other Premiers Not Able to go to Washington.

London.—Premier Massey of New Zealand, in an interview here, states that he fears that it will be impracticable under any circumstances for him to attend the disarmament conference at Washington owing to the necessity of him attending the forthcoming session of the New Zealand Parliament. He believes Premier Smith of Australia are similarly situated and it is therefore probable that Canada will be the only one of the overseas Dominions which could conveniently send a representative to Washington next November.

Premier Massey added he was fully confident the British delegation would adequately represent the interests of all the overseas Dominions.

Canada Represented at Geneva.

Ottawa.—Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of Justice, and Sir George H. Parry, Canadian high commissioner in London, will represent Canada at the meetings of the League of Nations in Geneva. They sailed on the Empress of Britain, Aug. 20.

It is considered likely that Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia, will be acting minister of justice during the absence of Mr. Doherty.

Arrange State Loans.

London South Africa cable from Sydney, N.S.W., reports that the State Premier, Hon. John Storey, when in London recently, arranged for state loans of six million five hundred thousand pounds sterling each for three years, at an interest of 5%.

London.—"If the alliance with Japan could be merged into a broader understanding with Japan and the United States on all the problems of the Pacific, that would be a great event and it would be a guarantee for the peace of the world." Thus spoke David Lloyd George, the British prime minister before the House of Commons today before outlining the work of the recent conference of the imperial preferences.

The Premier was dealing specifically with the Anglo-Japanese alliance at the time and explaining how the conference had unanimously recognized that Japan loyally had carried out her obligations to Great Britain during the war in letter and spirit. He saw no reason why it should be perfectly straightforward and honorable, and that everything he had done was to make it possible to remember obligations to Japan and at the same time preserve a spirit of fraternity with the United States.

The Premier defended the action of General Smuts, the South African premier, with regard to Ireland. He said that General Smuts had acted perfectly straightforward and honorably, and that everything he had done was to make it possible to remember obligations to Japan and at the same time preserve a spirit of fraternity with the United States.

"When you come to the question of renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance," said Mr. Lloyd George, "you must take into account the fact that we have a real test in the late war. No man who watched what happened could come to any other conclusion than that it was loyally and faithfully interpreted and carried out by our Japanese ally. The Pacific was being made safe for the German cruisers; our ships were being sunk. We had to depend on the help of Australia and New Zealand."

The Premier proceeded to describe how Great Britain's immense fleet was strained to the very last ship, new and old, in the gigantic operations of protecting Great Britain's own shores in the North Sea, the South Atlantic and the Mediterranean.

"In the immense Pacific Ocean and in the Southern Atlantic," Mr. Lloyd George continued, "how were we to guarantee a half million colonial troops a million Indian troops creating millions of miles of sea against the leader? We could not have done it but for the fact that our Japanese ally came to our aid. The Australia and New Zealand proved it. We would not have sent our troops without the guarantee. And at the beginning of the war we certainly could not have given the guarantee but for the fact that the Japanese fleet came there to assist us in chasing the German fleet."

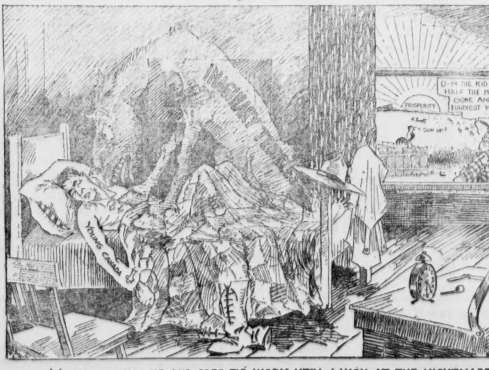

"It was invaluable to us; it was one of the turning factors in the war. They loyally and faithfully carried out their obligations and carried them out in the spirit. It is to be suggested that we now may not have done it."

You stood by us in trouble, but we don't need you any longer, do we? Were anybody believes that in business? The British Empire must believe like gentlemen. When you are dealing with a country that stood well by you in trouble, and it is suggested that you should give the alliance to an end when the trouble is over, I say that would not be becoming to the British Empire."

"I do not believe there is a country in the world, whether it likes the Japanese alliance or not, that would think anything better of the British if we had broken off the alliance. They might say to you, 'at the moment, but in their hearts they would despise us. That does not mean that we are to continue the alliance of any kind on any point against anyone else, and certainly not against the United States. It is a cardinal principle of British policy and it must be, that we should act in complete accord with the United States as any nation of the world does not know of any country in the world with which it is more important that we should act in concert than with the United States. But I do not see why it is impossible to remember our obligations to Japan and at the same time present a spirit of fraternity with the United States."

Man Killed In Thresher.

Winipeg.—While endeavoring to reduce the belt on a threshing machine, Mike Wob, 27, reeve of the municipality of Birch River, on the Greater Winnipeg Waterbury, was instantly killed when his arm caught in the belt and his body was hurled across the pulley.

Prevent Smut by
Formalin Treatment

Cuts were free from smut last year on some farms. On other farms they contained as much as one-third smut. The difference was not in the land, altogether, in the seed, but in the farmer. Those who carefully treated their seed oats with formalin, escaped this severe loss. Smut is more or less common in practically all untreated oats, and many farmers who know about the treatment simply neglect to treat the seed. Those who have been persuaded to apply the treatment express surprise at its simplicity and ease and are convinced that a gain of from one dollar to five dollars per acre have been made. The treatment for an acre requires only a few cents worth of formalin, a bucket of water and a few minutes work. The following method is recommended: Mix output of formalin with 40 gallons of water. Place the grain to be treated in a heap on a clean canvas or tarp. Sprinkle the formalin solution over the grain then shovel the grain over to mix it thoroughly, then sprinkle and shovel again. Repeat this until every grain is moistened by the solution; then cover the pile with sack and leave for three or four hours. At the end of this time spread the grain out thinly to dry; shoveling it out three or four times will hasten the drying. Forty gallons of the formalin solution is sufficient to sprinkle between thirty and forty bushels of grain. Never expose wet grain to a temperature below freezing. If the grain is sown while moist, it will not run as freely as dry grain; for this reason open up the drill somewhat on the stand will be too thin.

Greater Rye Production Is Now Advocated For The Western Provinces

To launch definitely a scheme for planting a greater area in rye, with a view to solving the drought problem in Southern Alberta and Southwestern Saskatchewan, a luncheon was recently given by the Winnipeg Board of Trade, the Canadian Credit Men's Association, the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs and the National Manufacturers' Association.

Several hundred representative business men heard a report from a committee of investigation which was brought together by the Western Canada Colonization Association, bearing on this subject.

The report sets out after a general discussion of existing conditions in the areas affected, immediate action on the following programme was considered desirable—Prompt steps should be taken to encourage and ensure the sowing of fall rye in Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta, and particularly in the following areas: In Saskatchewan, south and east of a line from Estevan, Moose Jaw, Outlook and Medicine Hat to the Alberta boundary, and in Alberta, south of a line extending from Calgary to the point adjoining Saskatchewan boundary east of Macklin.

Among the reasons and advantages of sowing fall rye, the report includes the following—Fall rye is the most resistant to drought and cutworms, and therefore gives a greater security to the grower than any other spring-sown cereal. Fall rye is the most valuable as a grain crop, has a distinct value for pasture and hay. Fall rye ripens three weeks earlier than spring wheat. It is the best winter wheat prevalent in the latter half of July. Fall rye growing distributes the work of the farm over a greater part of the year, and it assists in preventing soil drying. It has been readily marketed through the usual channels for winter grain. It has a high feeding value in hog production and under present conditions can be advantageously marketed through this class of livestock.

The report continues that it was agreed that since the seed of any variety may not be available in sufficient quantities to seed the entire area, it would be desirable to encourage the sowing of ordinary rye. Evidence was submitted showing the superior yielding qualities of Plover rye and North Dakota 939. The committee recommended that those who are in a position to purchase these varieties to do so securing their requirements early.

One of the subjects of consideration by the committee recognizes that much grain is sown in poorly prepared ground, and an unnecessary quantity of seed is lost. It is recommended that those who are to fall to cultivate properly. The committee further declares that those who extend credit to or on the basis of grain determine to whom such credit will be given, but it suggests the inadvisability of advancing additional credit to those whose land has not been properly cultivated.

The committee also urges early seeding, but realizes that much of the seed is not available until it is necessary to determine how late seeding can be done. In general, the most desirable dates are between Aug. 15 and Sept. 10, but if moisture conditions warrant, seeding may be carried on up to Sept. 20. In some cases, early August seeding is advisable. Where it is particularly desired to prevent soil drying, late July or early August seeding is advisable. The rate of seeding suggested is three pecks per acre.

The average for Canada for three dry years, 1918, 1919 and 1920, is 15.41 bushels per acre against 11.41 bushels per acre.

These three dry years show 50 per cent. greater rye production in all Alberta, and it may be assumed that the production was even greater in the dry areas.

Other statistics included in the report show that in every year from 1911 to 1920, inclusive, the yield of rye was greater than that of wheat by fully 25 per cent.

The statistics, covering a period of years, show that the prices per bushel of rye in Canada average from 25c to 30c per bushel over wheat.

New York Produce Exchange statistical report of 1920, page 33, shows that the average price of rye in 1920 was 1.07 per bushel, and the average price per bushel for wheat was $1.24 for the same period. This is about 15 per cent. in favor of wheat.

It is clear, therefore, that the production of rye in Alberta and Saskatchewan, particularly during the dry years, being so much greater than

A Unique Monument Shrine to Buffalo Bill on Lookout Mountain.

The shrine of American boyhood will henceforth lie upon the summit of Lookout Mountain in the Denver Mountain Park, 6,000 where the city of Denver has recently completed a museum building to hold the relics of Col. W. B. Cody (Buffalo Bill). The building stands within 200 ft. of Colonel Cody's grave on the top of the mountain at an elevation of 7,300 ft. The building is one of the most unusual in America. It is constructed entirely of logs with the bark still adhering and of hand-cut shingles. The inside reveals one may enter with a telescope into the States of Wyoming, Kansas and Nebraska. Visitors have declared it one of the best scenic views in the country.

A feature of the building is the utilization of tree trunks, twisted limbs, gnarled knots and stumps. The chandelier, suspended from the roof, is constructed in this manner, and probably there is nothing like it in the world. A huge log barrel, lashed end, gives inverted lighting. Frosted globes are contained in lanterns resembling huge bird cages. The ceiling is buried in clouds hollowed out beneath the natural tree bark. The museum contains Colonel Cody's wearing apparel, saddles, bridles, guns, stilling Bull's scalp, shirt and peace pipe, and the gun used by Sittling Bull in the Custer massacre.

There are about one and a quarter acres of land and a quarter acre of the land is the Custer massacre. Cody killed over 600 Indians in one year for the Union Pacific and gained his sobriquet of Buffalo Bill—By E. C. MacGeehan, in the September Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Racing Pigeon Set Record
Pair Recently Flew From Winnipeg To Edmonton

Facing prevailing westerly winds, two pigeons owned by R. B. Owen, provincial sanitary engineer, of Edmonton, have made a record flight of 400 miles long distance record.

Four racing birds owned by Mr. Owen, and four other Edmonton birds were released at Winnipeg on Sunday morning at 8.40 a.m. and at 9 a.m. two of Mr. Owen's flyers entered the race. The pair had covered the distance of 800 miles.

This is the longest flight which has been attempted by the game birds since 1880. The year two of Mr. Owen's yearlings from Rivers, Manitoba, in Edmonton, the distance covered being 657 miles, which was the first of the racing birds contested with the strong westerly winds, while winging from home—Edmonton Bulletin.

The Tyranny of Clothes
Burden Imposed by Customs, a Grooming and Weariness of the Flesh.

Swimming is one of our few remaining refuges from the modern world. It is about our only escape from the clothes-prison in which climate has locked up northern races. In these clothes are a necessity. For the rest they are a burden imposed by custom, a grooming and a weariness of the flesh and of the spirit sanitation into the bargain. It is only within living memories that we have grown civilized enough to shed a part of our superfluous clothes in hot weather. As we grow more civilized we shall shed more of them.—The Houston Globe.

Satisfying Her Conscience.
Mrs. Charnier and Miss Blunt met at the village, as both were on calls. Tea was served and at Mrs. Charnier nibbled at her cake, she murmured: "I must say, dear Mrs. Blunt, this cake is delicious." The Vicar's wife beamed. Then the two ladies left, and as they walked home Miss Blunt burst out—"Really, Mrs. Charnier, how could you say that appalling home-made cake was delicious?" "I didn't say it was," cooed Mrs. Charnier with a twinkle. "I said, 'I must say so.' And one must say, 'I must say so.'"

What Grant Had On.
It was at the closing exercises of a city public school that Marjorie was reading a composition of her own on Grant's work in the Civil War. She had written it credibly until she reached Lee's Surrender at Appomattox Court House.

She then asked how Lee wore his sword and was handsomely attired in full uniform, "while Grant," she announced, "had on nothing but an old ragged union suit."

We learn by experience. For instance, a man never wakes up in his second baby to see it laugh.
